NSW/ACT Young Tall Poppy Science Awards

2008 Nominations now open www.aips.net.au/tallpoppies/awards/2008

You are invited to nominate a bright young researcher for a 2008 Young Tall Poppy Science Award.

Nominations are accepted from all fields of science and technology including medical research, physical and biological sciences, engineering and computer science. Nominations will be accepted from all sectors including universities, research institutions, government agencies and the private sector.

Candidates will be up to 40 years of age with a maximum of ten years post-doctoral research experience.

Selection criteria include:

- Excellence in academic achievement
- Excellence in community engagement in the understanding and promotion of science

Full selection criteria are available online.

This is an opportunity to recognise outstanding young researchers and contribute to the promotion of science in schools and the community.

Nominations close Friday 1 August 2008. See website for Nomination Form.

The NSW Young Tall Poppy Science Awards are organised by the Australian Institute of Policy & Science with the support of the NSW Office for Science and Medical Research.
